Welcome to Mountain Home

A LETTER FROM THE WING COMMANDER

elcome to Gunfighter Country and congratulations on becoming part of our proud heritage. Mountain Home AFB and the 366th Fighter Wing have a rich history, stretching back more than 70 years to the United States' entry into World War II. Our "Gunfighter" nickname was earned in 1967 when the 366th Tactical Fighter Wing was stationed at Da Nang Air Base, Vietnam. Aircrew were missing opportunities to shoot down enemy MiGs because the missiles were ineffective at short ranges and the F-4C lacked a gun. However, innovative wing aircrew and maintainers worked together, mounted external 20-millimeter Gatling gun pods on the F-4Cs and developed new tactics, enabling pilots to score four MiG kills within the first month of operation. Soon other units followed suit. For the gun pod innovation and the 11 enemy MiG kills that followed, the wing earned a Presidential Unit Citation and the moniker of "Gunfighters."

Today, we continue the innovation and teamwork demonstrated by our predecessors while flying both the F-15E Strike Eagle and the Republic of Singapore Air Force F-15SG, preparing to fight our Nations' wars today and in the future. Whether you are a maintainer, a medic, a pilot or WSO, a logistician or any other integral part of our Air Force, you are joining an incredible team that works tirelessly to protect our country and its citizens while maintaining the Gunfighter tradition of excellence.

While we work hard to defend our nation, we also enjoy our time off. Idaho is an amazing place in which to live and work. It is a very diverse state, rich not only in outdoor activities, but also in cultural history. From a quiet fishing hole to a rugged mountain hike, the Mountain Home area provides a vast array of adventurous pastimes; and nearby Boise is alive with activity. Museums, art galleries, concerts, plays and symphonies are all within an hour drive.

ERNESTO M. DIVITTORIO, Col, USAF
Commander, 366th Fighter Wing

I look forward to working with you and getting to know you and your families. You are now part of the Gunfighter legacy and will continue our heritage of teamwork, excellence, and innovation.

Ride Hard, Shoot Straight and Always Speak the Truth!

Ernesto M. DiVittorio Col, USAF
Commander, 366th Fighter Wing

PRIORITY PLACEMENT PROGRAM (PPP)

MILITARY SPOUSE PREFERENCE PROGRAM (PROGRAM "S")

In 1986, President Ronald Reagan signed a law granting employment preference to military spouses, the department opened the Priority Placement Program (PPP) to spouses relocating with their sponsors to new duty stations. By 2008, more than 52,000 spouses had obtained DOD jobs through the Priority Placement Program (PPP), which has clearly become a significant quality of life benefit for military families.

The Department of Defense Military Spouse Preference Program (Program S) - a subprogram of the Priority Placement Program (PPP) - provides statutory employment preference to military spouses. By giving military spouses priority in the employment selection process, Program S works to reduce the impact of frequent relocations on spouse's careers. The program applies to spouses of active duty military members of the U.S. Armed Forces, including the U.S. Coast Guard and full-time National Guard who desire priority consideration for competitive service positions. Spouses who meet the eligibility requirements are eligible to participate in the Military Spouse Preference Program. Spouses may register 30 days prior to the Sponsor's PCS reporting date.

Local Civilian Personnel offices serve as the registration points for Program S. Spouses in the United States may apply for the Military Spouse Preference Program 30 days prior to the Sponsor's reporting date to the new duty station. However, spouses traveling to overseas areas cannot receive preference until they actually arrive.

The Child Development Program is designed to provide quality, affordable childcare in support of the children and families of Mountain Home AFB.

WHAT WE DO

The MHAFB Child Development Program is certified by the Department of Defense and is fully accredited by the National Academy of Early Childhood Programs (NAEYC). Our Child Development Center is your child's "home away from home", providing hourly and weekly care for children as young as 6 weeks of age through 5 years of age, as well as a Part Day Enrichment Program. Our program acknowledges that children learn through active, hands-on involvement with their environment, peers, and caring adults. We respect each child's unique interests, experiences, abilities and needs, thus allowing us to be responsive to and appropriate for each child. Children are valued as individuals, as well as part of a group. Likewise, our program respects and supports the ideals, cultures, and values of families in their task of nurturing children. The activities planned for the children, the way classrooms are organized, the daily schedule, and the way the teachers interact with the children are all designed to support the development of the whole child and ensure each child reaches their full potential and develops a positive attitude towards learning.

All meals and snacks are prepared in accordance with USDA guidelines. Our programs are inspected at least 4 times a year by base agencies and Air Force personnel to ensure health, safety, fire, and program guidelines are maintained. Fee schedules are based on total family income and the type of program the child(ren) are enrolled in. A price chart may be obtained from the CDC front desk.

Local Area History

Mountain Home

Mountain Home is the largest city and county seat of Elmore County, the population was 14,206 at the 2010 census. Mountain Home was originally a post office at Rattlesnake Station, a stagecoach stop on the Overland Stage Line, about seven miles east of the city, on present-day US-20 towards Fairfield. With the addition of the Oregon Short Line railroad in 1883, the post office was moved downhill and west to the city's present site. Mountain Home is a vibrant rural community located about 40 miles southeast of Boise. Mountain Home is an excellent place to live and raise a family with a genuine sense of community. Residents benefit from a cost of living roughly fifteen percent less than the national average, quality health facilities including St. Luke's Elmore, and excellent schools, with several higher learning opportunities close by. The clean air, low crime rate and abundance of recreational opportunities provide a slower small town experience and is only a 45 minute drive to all the city amenities of the city. For more information on Mountain Home visit www.mountain-home.us , and www.mountainhomechamber.com.

Located southwestern Idaho, and more than 300 miles from Salt Lake City, 400 miles from Reno and Portland, Boise, Idaho, is arguably the most remote urban area in the Lower 48. Boise is a city where the urban jungle meets the wild life of rocky mountain. It is not unusual to spot bald eagles, duck, geese, deer, and a beaver all within the heart of the downtown area.

The Boise metropolitan area includes five counties with a combined population of 616,500, the most populous metropolitan area in Idaho. It contains the state's three largest cities; Boise, Nampa, and Meridian. Boise is the third most populous metropolitan area in the United States' Pacific Northwest region, behind Seattle, and Portland. Local Area History

Idaho

Idaho's nickname is the "Gem State", because nearly every known type of gemstone has been found there. Idaho is sometimes called the "Potato State" owing to its popular and widely distributed crop.

Adjacent to Washington and Oregon in the Pacific Northwest, Idaho is the 14th largest state. It's been said if you flatten all the mountains in Idaho, the state would be the size of Texas. Idaho covers two time zones, runs from Canada to Nevada, and encompasses the western side of the continental divide of the Rocky Mountains. Rivers, mountains and farmland dominate the state's landscape. You can see wide open space for miles and is the 7th least densely populated of the 50 United States. The current population of Idaho has been estimated at 1,634,464 making it the 39th most populous state. To find out more about this diverse and scenic state visit www.visitidaho.org, www.idaho.gov.
